SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1868.

French Packet Review.

The political events of a fortnight, in time of peace and legislative vacation, cannot include matters of surpassing importance. The approaching elections for the Provincial Chambers have caused some agitation among our effervescent patriots, and a meeting on last Sunday, of the Club "Buenos Ayreno," seemed to indicate a determination to wage war with the National Government by returning for Governor and Representatives, members of the ultra-local party. Nervous people foretell a rupture which will end in the expulsion of the Nat. Executive, but such fears are exaggerated.

The opening of Congress, in May, will decide much of the future of the Republic. A spirit of discontent still lingers in many of the provinces, and it is complained that Buenos Ayres has taken the lion's share. Still the re-action has assumed no tangible form, and, although we have riots in Catamarca, spunkling in Sa'ta Fé, and strange movements in Entre Rios, the peace of the nation is untroubled and undisturbed. The commissioner appointed last by President Mitre to Concordia, to investigate the row which took place during Carneval, has returned, but as yet no report is published. The arrival of Parqui teems with seditious invectives against the " new tyranny." Gen. Urquiza is said to have lost 4000 men, 4000 minie-rifles, probably to make up for the magazine of the late capital, now removed to this city. At the same time he pays much attention to the Caudillores, cotton-garden, and estancias, and seeing the unmitigated hostility of the Buenos Ayrean party he is obliged to be on his guard, borrowing the motto of the English volunteers—" defence but not offence."

The rapid increase of our flocks, and the daily arrivals of immigrants are at length producing an effect which seems of very distant: the settled districts are becoming too limited, and poor farmers go in search of land even beyond the boundary of Buenos Ayres and Sta. Fé. It is therefore proposed to extend the frontier of this province on the pampas, encroaching on the hunting-grounds of the Indians. As no purchase of any kind, in the shape of savage owners, they naturally regard us as robbers and retaliate by carrying off our cattle. Last week we had news of another Indian raid, and it seems impossible to protect our out-lying districts from this enemy.

Science is making great acquisitions in our exploring parties of the Rio Salado, and Verneje. Mr Rams is at present in Santiago preparing to descend the former River from Matará to Sta. Fé. Mr White, recently arrived from England, has chartered the little steamboat " Fairy " to go up the stream and meet the explorer. Captain Lavarello has not entered the Verneje, being obliged to make some repairs at Asuncion, in Buenos Aires we have to report the discovery of some valuable ante-diluvian fossils, by Dr. Burmeister, director of our Museum. They comprise megatherium, glyptodon, mylodon, toxodon &c.

The loss of the captain and two sailors of the British barque Abbott's Reading, was considered still more lamentable by the fact that the captain was brought ashore alive, and as said o have fallen a victim to neglect. The news we reported of Messrs Wright and Kelso's intention to run migrant vessels of 1000 tons to the river Plate has been joyfully received here. The hot weather is now over. The money market is difficult to improving.

INDUSTRIAL REVIEW.

The proposed Cordoba railway is the grand topic in the Argentine republic at present. Since the sailing of last p cket, both Mr Wheelwright and Dr. Rawson have returned from Rosario, where they met with the most impreceidented success. All the impediments which appeared so serious a few months ago, we are happy to say, have been completely removed. Both the legislatures of Cordoba and Santa Fé, have passed laws to enable the respective governors of these provinces to placat the disposal of the lands at present all the land which may be deemed necessary by the President for the conclusion of the contract. The principal residents of these provinces have not only come forward and tendered their land, but have also subscribed for over 2000 shares of the stock. Gen. Urquiza, who had already promised to subscribe to the extent of £105,000, is now requested to comply, and there is every reason to suppose he will do so. As yet none of the stock has been taken in this city, but we feel most confident that Mr Wheelwright will succeed in getting half the required capital this side of the Atlantic, and trust that he will be equally fortunate in England. It is, of course, impossible for men in England to form any ideas either of the resources of this country, through which the road will pass, or the important results which it awaits it. Only those resident here can fully comprehend this. It is the grandest scheme for regenerating and developing the resources that ever has been undertaken in the very magnitude of the enterprise, makes many timorous as to its practicability and ultimate success, but no doubt remains in the minds of the contract (of which we hope soon to receive a copy), will be executed immediately, required to complete it, or the stock is and the line opened for traffic, similar to the Illinois central railway Co, will be made, with the difference that on the Illinois road the grant was only every alternate section, while the Cordoba road gets two league along the route.

The shareholders up the rivers are all working hard; the majority to fill the contract already made. Cattle up the country are in splendid condition, and the estancieros are giving way slightly to their hard bargains at present with leading salted hides, tallow, bone ash, &c. up the rivers. The greatest activity prevails.

Between the Corrientes, Paraguay, and even in Buenos Aires, is becoming daily more and more attended to. We are constantly receiving the most flattering letters from those who have received seed from this office. In Paraguay the crop promises to be large, from arrivals. The last seed we received from the Co'on Supply Association, we gave to the Government, and their packet to Buenos Ayres. The Minister is having it distributed amongst the Upper Provinces. We have every reason to be satisfied with the seed supplied by the Association, and trust that the cotton will be shipped from this port. A sample grown from our seed, at Bandero de Rio Seco, is on exhibition at the Exchange.

Mr Hutchinson, the English Consul in Rosario, has returned from his tour through the Entre Rios, and reports that the Cotton Supply Association, he has examined the capabilities of these countries for the growth of cotton, that the native seed, the price of labour, value of land, and cost of freight. We look forward anxiously to his report, which we expect soon, and to which we shortly forward to the English Government.

The interior of the Argentine Republic, although greatly improved since its comparative prosperity. Peace seems at last firmly established. The Summer has been most genial, and the country never looked more beautiful. Even the Republic have yielded, we may say, a hundred fold. Industry has ceased to be unremunerative in the Argentine Republic.

Crowds of foreigners are daily landing on our shores, all whom it will be easy to work fin t instantaneously—Peace and a good liberal Government is all that is required for this country: both these blessings we have at present in the enjoyment in the Buenos Ayres although suffering from a monetary crisis, arising from the unsound state of the currency, is progressing rapidly. The greatest activity prevails at the brick kilns, and the builders are in constant employment. Houses of European dimensions are in course of erection in all the principal streets of the city. The inhabitants in Barracas have at last commenced building, which gives a stir in that locality. We understand to an answer to the remarks of our "anonymous" correspondent.

The words in italics, I must say frightened me a good deal at first, a also did the troop of French mercenaries brought to bear upon me. My unfortunate appearance without the name, was, I fear, Mr Editor, the cause of my detention. I am not aware that I have committed any crime, and I am sure that I have not intended to do so. I am a foreigner, and I am ignorant of the laws of the country, and I am sure that I have not intended to break them

CAP. PROUT—A week before the sad accident, a friend of ours told the unfortunate captain that he, or his friends, would be drowned by the fatal boat, which had no keel, a heavy sail and was devoid of ballast.

ABBOTT'S READING—We call attention to the Consul's notice, whereby it appears the unfortunate Captain who died on the Mole, was plundered of his gold watch. One of our medical men had a narrow escape in the same boat of the Abbott's Reading a week before, being five hours knocking about in the roads.

THE ST. PATRICK DINNER—In course of preparation, but we fear the want of a hand who can play Patrick's Day and Garryowen will sadly be supplied. The Irish, English and American flags will be draped together in fraternal harmony.

MISTAKE—It appears our paragraph, yesterday, reporting the suicide of a young man at Café de Paris was erroneous. The fact is the youth was only some 8 years old, and was accidentally shot in Belgrano.

NOTICE.

Any person who can give any information respecting a gold watch which the late Captain Prout of the Brig Ernest Abotts Reading is supposed to have brought on shore will please communicate the same to this office when a reward will be given for the recovery of the same.
